

International symposium on teaching in medical education: How to Teach Human Anatomy Effectively

Čačković Hall, University of Zagreb School of Medicine, Šalata 3

Organized by the University of Zagreb School of Medicine
Department of Anatomy and Clinical Anatomy & Centre for Improvement of Teaching Competencies

27th – 28th September 2024

Friday, September 27

- 14:30 Registration
- 15:00 Welcome (Slavko Orešković, Dean of the University of Zagreb School of Medicine)
- 15:15 Role of anatomy in developing professionalism through medical education: lessons from Cambridge Medical School (Cecilia Brassett, University of Cambridge, United Kingdom)
- 15:45 Interpretations of professionalism at Central European Anatomy Departments (Veronika Dzetkulićová, Masaryk University, Brno, Czech Republic)
- 16:15 Coffee break with discussion
- 16:45 Neurobiological aspects of protracted post-adolescent emotional and cognitive development (Zdravko Petanjek, University of Zagreb, Croatia)
- 17:15 How to introduce first year students into the university courses and make successful outcome at the end: challenges of the digital generation (Ana Hladnik, University of Zagreb, Croatia; Marina Nekić, University of Zadar, Croatia)
- 17:45 How to manage teaching courses of Anatomy for internationalized and sustainable education of Medicine (Andras Nagy, University of Pecs, Hungary)
- 18:15 Discussion

Saturday, September 28

- 8:30 Registration
- 9:00 Round table: Body donor as first patient and silent teacher (Lovorka Grgurević (moderator), University of Zagreb, Croatia; Judith Horvath, University of Pecs, Hungary; Cecilia Brassett, University of Cambridge, United Kingdom)
- 10:15 Round table: Constructive alignment: what to teach, how to teach and how to evaluate students (Amani Eltayb (moderator), Karolinska Institutet, Sweden; Vedran Katavić, Ivan Banovac, University of Zagreb, Croatia)
- 11:30 Round table: Flipped classroom as an innovative pedagogical model: To Flip or Not to Flip? (Mirza Žižak (moderator), Antonela Blažeković, Goran Ivkić, University of Zagreb, Croatia, Andras Nagy, University of Pecs, Hungary)
- 13:30 Closing ceremony

REGISTRATION CODE

<https://form.jotform.com/242574175121351>

Karolinska
Institutet

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

MUNI